"Oh dear, oh dear! What an absolute catastrophe! A most unruly native of the planet Dagobah has wreaked complete and utter havoc upon our lovely church sign. The creature has knocked several letters loose, causing them to plummet straight down into a state of dreadful, mixed-up disarray. We require your assistance immediately to rectify this situation, if you would be so kind! The single fallen letters should present no trouble for a mind such as yours. However, for the shorter words, I would humbly suggest cross-referencing letters that seem to possess some logical sense. The church leaders are counting on you! Once finished, please notify the volunteer committee leader at once. Oh, my goodness!"
