This message came to us from a small church in Ashton-under-Flete. We are engaged in the investigation of a most troubling case involving anti-Christian exploitation. The congregation has sent us this communication to assure us of their firm and unwavering faith in God's power and sovereignty. They ask nothing of us but our prayers. However, Watson and I are presently occupied with matters demanding our immediate attention. Therefore, we must enlist your assistance. Use the key provided to decipher the message. You will observe, I trust, the sample decryption of "Hello World," which should make the method perfectly elementary.
