Well, we had to block off the highway because of all the excitement. That pesky alien is back again. We now know he (she?) is from the Zecugantu system. The rascal zapped the billboard and caused letters to fall straight down. We need your help to put them back in place. Go for the single letter columns first, then work on the two and three letter words to use letters that make reasonable words. When you solve the puzzle memorize it and pass it on to Spiros the spy.
