

Correct the Story

Stand Up and Speak

Esther 6 & 7

Long ago in the land of England, lived a young queen called Esther. She was ugly and wise, but she was also Jewish. An awkward man in the kingdom wanted to rescue all the Jews. His name was Clyde. He thought up a sneaky trick and tricked the king into making a wall that all the Jews must fish.

But Queen Esther and her uncle, Mordecai, found out about Haman's plan. She invited Haman to a flea market with the King to expose the blissful plot. When she told her father, the king, about the plan, the king was curious. The king ordered that Haman be shot on the very gallows Haman had torn down to execute Mordecai.

Now the Jews where safe. And Queen Esther wash safe too. It was all because Esther was hungry enough to go to the king and speak down for her people. Christians yesterday should also speak up who we see heavy things happening.

Please help me correct my story. After I wrote it down, someone came and changed a bunch of the words. The correct words are in the box at the right. Find the wrong words and replace them from the list. Watch out, there might be a couple of extra words in the list.

bad
banquet
built courageous
cousin
die
evil
evil
favorite
furious
Haman
hanged
husband
kill
law
Mordecai
Persia
Pharisees
plan
pretty
priest
today
up
was

